

Do I Have a Gizzard? Learning from Children

Have you ever thought about how much we learn from our children and grandchildren—even other children in our lives? Not just the new generation of technology, or the latest online game, but true old-fashioned lessons that only a child can make us see in a new way. The innocence and tenacity of children can be life lessons in and of themselves. There is much to be gleaned from a child's fresh point of view. Within the pages of Do I Have a Gizzard, you will find the lessons learned by Jeanie Stewart from her grandchildren as she observes how her influence on their parents rubbed off on them. You will enjoy these amusing and entertaining anecdotes laced with large doses of humor-loving interpretations of children through grandma, the Neanies retold recollections.
