

Wild Animals of Nature

Many of us are familiar with animals, or are even animals ourselves. But what do we really know about animals? Where do they go at night? Why do they make those funny sounds? Unfortunately, they are not in a position to tell us. As a result, we must put words in their mouths, which is not easy to do. Animals often bite, and even if they don't they have dog breath. You could, as a veterinarian once suggested to me, use a pair of panty hose to rub plaque off your pets teeth, thereby producing fresher breath, but try explaining to your wife why you're putting her leg in the mouth of a cat, much less a gecko. Let me tell you, it's not easy. So read these stories with the same sense of wonder I experienced when I wrote them; namely, I wonder who the hell is ever going to buy this stuff?
