Plum Pudding, Christopher Morley, Doubleday Page, 1921, Stated first edition. 242 pages plus advertisements for Morleys other books. Most of these essays had been previously published in magazines and are reproduced here with their original illustrations. Subtitle reads And merrily embellished by Walter Jack Duncan. Description; Brown cloth spine with gold title. Beige boards with paper title, illustrated on the page throughout. Condition; very good. Bright, tight book free of any marks. Boards and cloth are lightly soiled, pastedown not lifting, spine not sunned but the gold has lost some of its luster, not creased or rubbed. Top edge of both boards are slightly scuffed and bottom edge of both boards shows dings. There is a light stain to the top edge of about the pages. The front, bottom point has just started. Interior unmarked. Rear signature exposed but not started, else near fine example. Also, please note there is a reflection in the photo along the lower edges of the book. This is light bouncing off the tablecloth and not a fault of the book. More photos available upon request.
