Not illustrated. 1863 Excerpt: ...between the rent and any other term of the lease. Therefore, if they have jurisdiction to alter the rent reserved by a lease, they have, by parity of reasoning, jurisdiction to alter any other term of it; in other words, to declare and recite in their conveyance that the lease subject to which they sell the estate comprises two, three or more denominations of land, though in point of fact it comprises only one denomination; which is absurd: nor can they do indirectly what they are not empowered to do directly. If on the lease itself there appears an indorsement which operates as a legal abatement of the rent, or if, by a separate instrument under hand and seal, the rent has been reduced, or extinguished pro tanto, the Commissioners, although they have not jurisdiction to sell the estate subject to the leases at that abated rent, may ascertain the fact of the abatement, and leave the tenant and the purchaser free to deal with it according to law. A plaintiff who claims under a conveyance from the Commissioners is not estopped from questioning their authority; because their convey-H. T. 1861 Queens Bene, ROCHFOTB ances are only deeds-poll, which have no force except what they eLn s liuich derive from the statute. The second question relates to the construction of the convey-Ennis. ance itself. The rent reserved by the lease of the 10th of April 1841 is erroneously described in the conveyance. The doctrine of falsa demonstratio does not apply to this case, for it never applies when it is possible to find something in rerum natura which will satisfy the description: Boyle v. Mulholland (a). Here, the identity of the lease and of the rent being admitted, the sole question is, what is the operation of the conveyance which purports to state the terms ...
