

Mad About the Fifties

Now in MAD About the Fifties young whippersnappers and wizened elders alike can appreciate MADs subversive beginnings. Thrill to cult classics like Superduperman!, Melvin of the Apes!, and Mickey Rodent!; pointed parodies like Gunsmoked, Perry Masonmint, and The Ed Suvillan Show; hilarious humor from seminal comedy pioneers like Tom Lehrer and many more; comic creators like the maniacally logical Don Martin, Harvey Kurtzman, Wally Wood, Jack Davis, Will Elder, and Al Jaffee, as well as early examples of the MAD Primer, Scenes Wed Like to See, and the compellingly loony Strangely Believe It! series; and rare reproductions in full color of historic early covers and classic ad parodies. But wait! Theres more! Special bonus! Amazing revelations about the mysterious origins of Alfred E. Neuman (was his original name really Melvin Coznowski? or was it Mel Haney?).
