The eight books on fun things to do mostly inside at home or in another building are as follows: Book 1. Recreation-Hobby Guide (Ideas for Fun & Inspiration) Book 2. Arts & Crafts Guide Book 3. Photography Guide Book 4. Movie-Pop Culture-Casino-Lottery Guide Book 5. Animal-Pet Fun Guide Book 6. Comedy-Comic Book Guide for Fun & Jobs Book 7. Computer Games Guide Book 8. World Live Theatre Superbook, includes Education & Jobs Entertainment and recreation are big topics for many of us because they are the most interesting. Very few of us truly love our jobs or businesses so we seek to fill the void by engaging in leisure and social activities in our downtime. From a commerce point of view, the entertainment and recreation industries are huge business ventures with people spending a lot of money on them such that they contribute a lot to the economy overall. Despite this, in my research on entertainment and recreation, I was not able to find one resource book that attempts to identify most topics under the banner of entertainment and recreation and offer resource information about where you can go to get more information about these subject areas. Beyond the books in the #790 to #799 section at the library which deal with some sectors of the recreation field, the only two places in the whole library that I found that specifically deal with recreation is the recreation section of the Encyclopedia of Associations and the Leisure section of a Periodical Directory like Ulrichs or the Standard Periodical Directory. There are all kinds of hobbies, arts & crafts and sports that people do that I didnt include in this book because Im just one guy. I cant possibly know all the things people do for recreation but Im willing to provide a starting point through this book. Computers and the internet are a major source of recreation but theyre so big that Ive written a separate book about them. Refer to either #004.00 to #006.00 at the library or refer to my Computer & Internet Resource Guide. Recreation for Fun, Inspiration & Fellowship I tried a bunch of different things for recreation and entertainment then settled on a few that mainly tax my physical and creative abilities. Through doing these just about everyday, I stay young, inspired and vital about my life. Im no different than the 51 year old hula hoop master I met who could balance 30 hula-hoops on her body. She found her joy in life, her fountain of youth in life but it just wasnt there, laid out in front of her. She had to check out a bunch of things before she found that this was what she really liked. This is what Im talking about. We need a guidebook to show us fun things to check out. As a 14 year-old kid, I didnt know anything about weightlifting, long distance biking or what the lifestyle of a creatively inspired artist-bohemian was. I was brought up in the straightlaced world of public grade school. I thought I would either work a job or start a business. I never imagined my life would become a continuous journey of inspired-esthetic experiences day after day.

I never conceived such a lifestyle option existed until I went out into the world and start learning about some of the many different options life has to offer. Thats why I wrote this book, to gather all these recreational options in one place for you to explore them and maybe find one or two things that exist in your soul now but have to be manifested by you discovering them, realizing they are a force within you then using them as a source of inspiration and pleasure for the rest of your life. Thats what I see as the power of recreation. Sure, the frivolous stuff is fun for a season or a filler if youre bored as a young person uncertain about your true identity but there is great power in finding the one or two recreational activities that make you come alive and give you a sense of vitality about your life.
